ELEANOR BARTLETT
1897-1983

Eleanor Bartlett, a member of the American Alpine Club since 1928, died in Greenbrae, California, August 10. She graduated from Wellesley College. An ardent mountain lover and climber, she came to the University of California in 1922 to teach in the Physical Education Department and became an authority in corrective exercises. After 37 years she retired in 1959. Eleanor had climbed in Colorado and was a member of the Colorado Mountain Club and in California became a member of the Sierra Club. She was a delightful companion to be with and a very good sport.

MARJORY FARQUHAR

TALCOTT MINER BANKS
1905-1983

Talcott Banks was perhaps better known as a sportsman and a devotee of the musical arts than as a mountaineer. He was born in Englewood, New Jersey, June 23, 1905. After three years at Hotchkiss he attended Williams College, graduating with an A.B. degree in 1928. During his years at college and afterward when he attended Harvard Law School, from which he received his LLB degree in 1931, he made a number of climbs in the Alps, among them the Finsteraarhorn by the west ridge and the Matterhorn traverse by the Zmutt Ridge. He was also an avid tennis player and during his last year in college was President of the National Intercollegiate Tennis Association.

After leaving law school he joined the firm of Palmer Dodge and apparently never found time to resume his climbing but busied himself with other activities, assuming a prominent role in the management of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, and in arranging for sponsors for the annual visit of the Metropolitan Opera Company to Boston as well as serving on many boards of directors. Although he dropped his membership in the Club in 1936 he rejoined in 1945 after his wartime stint in Washington as General Counsel of the Board of Investigation and Research.

KENNETH A. HENDERSON