Upernivik Island, West Greenland. Our expedition was composed of Enrique Benavente, Juan Cerda, Emilio Civis, Berta Escola, Heinz Porkorski, Jorge Pons, Sara Pinazo, Elisabeth Verges and me as leader. We climbed a total of twelve virgin peaks. After a week's trip by air and sea via Søndre Strømfjord, Egedesminde and Umanak, we arrived at Upernivik Island, where we set up Base Camp on July 22. From a high camp we climbed the following on Upernivik Island: P 1940 (6365 feet; "St. Eulalia"*); P 2015 (6611 feet; "Rock Peak"); P 1865 (6619 feet; "Peak of the Two Eskimos") all on July 29; and P 2135 (6841 feet; "Great Horn of the Mist"); P 1885 (6185 feet; "Abyss Peak") on July 31. On August 3 we explored the Qioqe Peninsula and climbed P 1230 (4135 feet; "Skeleton Peak"). Back on Upernivik we climbed P 1865 (6119 feet; "Midnight Peak") and P 1480 (4855 feet; "Friendship Summit") on August 5. The next day we ascended P 1840 (6037 feet; "Zodiac Needle"), P 1890 (6202 feet; "Pink Peak") and P 1600 (5250 feet; "Loose-Slab Summit"). After exploring Kangerdlugssuaq Fjord, on August 9 we climbed P 700 (2296 feet; "Duck Needle") on Akuliaruseq Peninsula.

MEXICO

El Gran Trono Blanco, VW Route, Baja California. On April 17 and 18, TM Herbert, Tom Condon and I began with two pitches up the "third class ramp", a jog left, and up some hard-to-protect F9 face climbing (three pitons). Then we went straight up eleven more pitches, mostly F7 and F8, all free and clean except for a piton of aid at an overhang on the 6th pitch and three aid pitons in a steep crack on the 9th pitch.
