

Pisco Oeste, Chopicalqui, and Chacaraju. The Alpine Club Impol of Slovenska Bistrica expedition was composed of Ivan Šturm, Marjan Frešer, Franček Knez, Janko Korent, Matjaž Pečkovnik, Milan Romih, Dani Tič and Dr. Tone Žuntar. On June 4 Knez and Frešer made a new route on the south face of Pisco Oeste. This was later repeated by Italians. On June 8 Knez and Frešer made a new route on the south face of Chacaraju Oeste to the eastern foresummit. On June 11 and 12 this same pair made a new direct route on Chopicalqui's 3500-foot-high west face. On June 21 Knez, Frešer and Tič climbed the 1972 Japanese Chacaraju Oeste's south face, straight up the ice bulge to the left of the summit. That same day Pečkovnik and Romih repeated the 1976 Japanese route on the south face, which reached the summit ridge to the right of the summit. On each of the Chacaraju climbs, bivouacs were made low on the face.

Routes on the South Face of Chacaraju. A number of routes have now been climbed on the south face of Chacaraju. These are marked on the photograph. Chacaraju Oeste: A. John Bouchard, Marie-Odile Meunier, Americans, 1977 (A.A.J., 1978, pages 486-7); B. Yves Astier, French, 1979 (A.A.J., 1982, page 178); C. Knez, Frešer, Yugoslavs, 1982 (This ascent stopped on the eastern foresummit.) (A.A.J., 1983, above); Chacaraju Este: D. Kochi, Tanaka, Japanese 1972 (They fell when the cornice broke as they tried to emerge on the summit ridge. They obviously did not reach the summit.) (A.A.J., 1973, page 457); E. Richey, Brewer, Americans, 1978 (A.A.J., 1979, pages 230-2); F. Jaeger, French, 1978 (A.A.J., 1979, page 234); G. Kondo, Yoshino, Japanese, 1976 (A.A.J., 1977, pages 210-2.)

Chacaraju Este. French climbers Nicole Mazuir and Philippe Modéré climbed Chacaraju Este in August. They followed the route first climbed by Brewer and Richey in 1978 and probably made the second complete ascent of the route. (Japanese in 1979 reached the summit ridge but did not continue.) The French also made several other climbs, including a full-moon ascent of Pisco.

Alpamayo, Chacaraju Oeste and Other Peaks. Viktor Jaralím, Miroslav Svoboda, Václav Zajíc and I on June 1 in five hours climbed the southwest face of Alpamayo by the Italian route. We also ascended Chacaraju Oeste from June 10 to 12 by the Bouchard-Meunier route on the south side directly to the western summit. Petr Hapala and Břetislav Husička climbed Huandoy Norte by the 1976 Polish route. Most of the party also climbed Pisco Oeste.
